Several youngsters have been taken by Police Officer Frank W. Walker, before the judge during this year who has talked to them; and they improved, so that it was not necessary to bring cases against them in the Juvenile Court.

Parents should know where their boys and girls are at night.

HINSDALE BRANCH A. R. C.

I attended the State teachers Convention in Claremont, the Red Cross Convention in Concord, the N. E. Nurses Association in Manchester and three Public Health Nurses meetings in Keene.

I wish to thank the ladies of the Missionary Society of the Congregational church for their thoughtfulness and kindness in making layets and pneumonia jackets which has helped a great deal in emergencies. The people also have been very generous in giving clothes for the needy. The Red Cross headquarters in Keene have given me ample supply of clothes and flour.

I appreciate greatly the cooperation of the doctors, superintendent of schools, teachers, and the people of Hinsdale, in helping me to carry on my work through the year.

Respectfully,
EVA M. FORTIER, R. N.

HINSDALE BRANCH OF A. R. C.

Report of the Chairman of the Nursing Committee

The committee wishes to thank all those who joined the Red Cross and those who donated to the Local Branch. Although the flour which was given by the government two years ago has been donated to families as needed, there are still a few bags on hand. We have been able to give out underclothing, sweaters and coats to many children. Milk has been furnished children who could not have had it otherwise, from a special fund. When this fund is exhausted these children will have to be dropped from the list unless there can be another organized. The fund for the care of patients has been much less than ordinarily, because of the inability of many families to pay the fifty cent fee for calls.

Respectfully submitted,

EVA N. FAY.

Jesse W. Field,
Chairman of Hinsdale Branch A. R. C.

The circulation has increased about 800 books, giving us a circulation of seventeen books per capita. There have been many more people at the reading tables this year, especially since the library has been open afternoons.

It has been very hard to supply the needs of the library. Nearly $200.00 has been held in a restricted bank, though it is hoped this will be released soon. The rental collection has made it possible to purchase a large amount of fiction, but we have been unable to buy all the non-fiction requested and have not had as many children's books as in other years.

Over 150 books have been mended by C. W. A. workers. For ten weeks an assistant was supplied through C. W. S. and the library has been open thirty hours instead of twenty-one each week. Hundreds of books of fiction, stored in basement, have been brought upstairs and either put into circulation, sold or discarded. The books have been kept in better order and many other tasks completed because of the extra assistance.

Readers have enjoyed having the library open afternoons and an effort will be made to have this arrangement permanent, when government help is no longer available.

A bench and stools have been arranged in one corner for the smallest children. We need new chairs, extra stacks and more room.

This bill was passed at Concord recently: "No trustee of any free public library shall receive any compensation for any services rendered as trustee unless compensation is stipulated in the terms of the bequest or gift establishing said library."

LUELLA M. C. STREETER, Librarian.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

SCHOOL BOARD

OF

Hinsdale School District

FOR

FISCAL YEAR

JULY 1, 1932—JUNE 30, 1933

IN MEMORIAM

ANNIE W. WHITE

With profound sorrow, the School Board of the Hinsdale (N. H.) School District records the death on September 29, 1933, of one of its most earnest and zealous teachers, Miss Annie W. White, following an illness of only three days. For more than thirty-seven years, the full span of her active life, she had dedicated her talents untiringly to the training and education of generations of Hinsdale children.

It was her happy lot to make for herself a fortunate life and to be given the satisfaction of knowing that the ample fruits of her labors were to remain imprinted upon the lives of the children of the Hinsdale which she loved and served.

The School Board desires, therefore, to express its keen sense of personal loss in Miss White's untimely death, and the feeling that professionally this loss can never be replaced or made good. To such as she, there is no successor.

HEADMASTER'S REPORT

Hinsdale, N. H.,
February 7, 1934.

Mr. W. H. Douglass,
Winchester, New Hampshire.

The report of the enrollment for the Hinsdale school for the school year of 1933-34 is as follows:

Grade	Number pupils
12	17
11	26
10	19
9	24
8	49
7	42
6	34
Total,	211

The large classes in Grades 7 and 8 have added to the congestion in the high school building. This is especially true in respect to Grade 8 as there are but two rooms in this building which will accommodate the full class at one time. Both of these classes, 7 and 8, are handicapped from the basis of seating capacity at recitation work as it is an obvious impossibility to give but very little individual attention to pupils in classes of this size, especially in such courses as English, French, and mathematics. Some of these individuals need individual attention very badly, but there is neither teacher time nor seating room. A far worse disadvantage arises from this situation, owing to the fact that the study rooms are crowded with from 48 to 78 people during many periods of the day. In addition to this, there is a class being conducted in that same room. This adds to the disadvantage of the pupil as he is compelled to study and to recite under almost impossible conditions. Very few adults could read a newspaper in a room with 74 other people without any interruption at all; but we are expecting the children to not only read but to study for real information with not only 74 other pupils, but with a class reciting in the same room as well.

There is no room for a much needed widening of the curriculum because there is no space to expand and no available teacher time, if such expansion were possible. We are continuing to tell boy pupils that they may take one of two curriculums. The classical, when they have neither the desire nor the ability to go to college and join the professions; or we tell them that they may take the commercial curriculum, when they will never become bookkeepers or stenographers.

We need now, more than ever before, an opportunity to train these young people, not only in what we hope will help them to get a living, but more than all, how to live. It is far more important that a boy or girl graduate from school with a knowledge which will help him to get a living and to live with his neighbors than it is to be able to say that he achieved such and such a grade in mathematics or French. We are handicapped in any attempt of social instruction because we have no room nor place which we may use for school activities outside of what has now become a very meager classroom with all people, exclusive of the faculty within the building. It is possible that the enrollment within this building is due to increase. Conditions are certainly not going to be any better so far as education of our young people is concerned. We should make up our minds to provide suitable surroundings for young people even at a considerable sacrifice to ourselves.

The position of a modern school building should be such that in so far as possible it should be central and yet with sufficient grounds to permit of certain outside activity. One of the reasons for the lack of respect for public property is based upon the fact that public things are handled by hired caretakers and the individual who makes up the public has no personal interest in such property because he is told that he may use it only under certain conditions and if destroyed, the public pocketbook will supply new property. This is wrong. An opportunity to build up a respect for public articles may be promoted by bringing the individual into direct contact with the labor and expense of supplying those same things. I believe a respect for growing things may be formed by supervised gardens, trees, and livestock, grown by and handled by the pupil, under the supervision of an able and well-informed instructor. At this particular time, I believe that there is great benefit in training people in out-of-doors activities, where they may get real enjoyment through work of their own hands even though they get their living from industry. I believe our means of recreation should be guided by building tastes while the individual is still in school. It comes to a question of decision as to an approved form of activity as to which is best, the poker game in the back alley or the ball game in the open field. The first is certain to come into being if the second is not supplied. We need more than a building as a setting for educational machinery.

Is it important that neatness be required in our present day civilization? If so, are we training our children in neatness when our small and narrow hallways are filled with coats, rubbers, overshoes, one upon the other in piles? There isn't any other place to hang them so they hang them on the floor. As a parent, I am not pleased when my daughter comes home from school with soiled and torn clothing. As a teacher, I am often embarrassed when a parent asks the reason for the destruction and loss of clothing within the school; yet how can this condition be helped without an opportunity to correctly place such garments? We teach sanitation and the value of sunlight as a germ destroyer and yet place our toilets in the basement of a building which the sun never sees. Furthermore, there is no room in the building where a general assembly of all of these people may be held with safety. There is no room for work in dramatics, music, drawing, or athletics. There is no library or museum. But perhaps these people will learn by seeing things as they should not be.

We are particularly fortunate in Hinsdale from an adult standpoint. We have a fine Town Hall, Grange Hall, Forresters' Hall, Masonic Hall, Grand Army Hall, more churches than can be used, and yet our children, upon whose success our happiness and the future of the community depends, are hived together in two buildings where many of us went to school fifty years ago. Apparently our own success has been sufficient so that we are willing for our children to be schooled in the same environment that was our best, half a century ago. We are content to let the public dance hall, the speakeasy, and the automobile night rides serve as the training school for our children in a day and age when we complain bitterly of the laxity of the coming generation. But we have shirked our responsibility of supplying approved activity and have left them to shift for themselves.

We are passing our people through a sort of information factory, trusting that in spite of it, they will obtain through the intervention of some higher power a knowledge of how to live after graduation. Our records are showing that approximately 1-3 of our graduating classes are going away to high institutions of learning. Our concern is not with these people because our records show that for this part of the work we have prepared them well. But we are far more interested in the other 66 out of every 100 who must take what they have as a preparation for what they can find to do after graduating. We have a few individuals graduating every year whose financial situation prohibits their further study. These people want and need further training if it were possible. A scholarship fund would be a wonderful thing for such people.

Industry in the past has absorbed from 8 to 16 hours out of every 24. 6 day weeks. Our proposition in the future seems to show that this is going to be changed. First, a machine has supplanted the necessity for a great deal of hand labor. It is no longer necessary for men and women to spend so much time in the process of manufacture. With the advent of the 30 to 45 hour week a great deal of time is thrown back upon the individual. This time must be used and will be used in some way. Is it not better to teach certain enjoyments which may be obtained if we know where to find them than it is to take it for granted that each individual is going to answer his own question? This is a new responsibility which is laid upon the school.

The prevailing trend of our graduates during the past five years seems to be toward finding employment in Hinsdale. It is possible that the school authorities could assist the business men by cooperation in regard to graduates who are to take jobs in town. It would certainly help the graduates and could do the business men no harm.

Our school system is the most valuable of any of our town functions both from the economic and social standpoint. If we are going to spend more money on one branch of our town activity than we do on any other, then we certainly should not hesitate at an investment to increase the efficiency of the branch.

Summing all this up, we need more room, a larger and wider range of classes to give an opportunity to the majority of our young people to their rightful inheritance of life and the full enjoyment of living.

CLEON B. JOHNSON.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

To the School Board and Citizens of Hinsdale:

I have the honor to submit herewith my ninth annual report.

Buildings and grounds: Owing to the rather serious curtailment of the school budget only slight minor repairs were made about the buildings such as thorough cleaning, painting blackboards, etc. At the Bridge Street School, curtains were installed in Miss Temple's room, while at the High School, the floor in the Home Economics room was given three coats of bakelite varnish. I would call your attention to several urgent matters that need attention as soon as the budget permits.

(1). The Bridge Street building needs painting and the High School will need it very soon. My suggestion would be to provide for painting the Bridge Street building this summer. The appropriation for minor repairs includes sufficient money for this purpose.

(2). At the Monument School, the size of the playground should be increased and it would be very desirable to provide a water supply on the premises.

Teachers and pupils: Few changes in the teaching staff are to be recorded. Miss Jennie Yaloff, for several years teacher of the Monument School, was transferred to the sixth grade to take the place of Miss MacNabb. Miss Margaret Coll returned to the second grade after a year's leave of absence and Miss Brunel, who had supplied for her during the year, was transferred to the Monument School. On September 29, the community was shocked by the news that Miss Annie White had passed to her reward. In her passing, Hinsdale suffered an inestimable loss. But she still lives in the hearts of a generation of children whose lives were enriched by her teaching and personality. On October 16, Miss Edna Freihofer of Alstead, a teacher of ten year's experience, was engaged as teacher of Grade IV.

In view of the curtailment in the school budget, the Board had no alternative but to reduce teachers' salaries. In doing so, the Board followed the following formula. $400 of salary was exempted and the remainder was cut uniformly 15%. The School District officers also voluntarily cut their own salaries by 15%.

I hope that the voters will deem it wise to accept the School Budget as recommended by the School Board. I doubt if further retrenchment can be made without seriously endangering the educational opportunities of your children.

I trust you will give careful consideration to Headmaster Johnson's report. Conditions such as these are surely a great handicap to your children's education. But, in urging your thoughtful consideration of the needs of the high school, you will not overlook even more deplorable conditions to which the youngest and most tender of your children are subjected in the Bridge Street building. I have faith enough to believe that ere long, Hinsdale people are going to provide its children with adequate facilities that we all can take pride in. I believe that the real solution is a single plant to properly house all the children with adequate space for recreational life and adequate provision for assemblies and physical development.

I can think of no better conclusion than I wrote last year: "Again I wish to express my appreciation to the school board, to the teachers and pupils, and to the parents for their loyalty and cooperation, and trust that the same cordiality and harmony may continue throughout this critical period which confronts us. LET'S KEEP OUR CHILDREN FIRST."

Respectfully submitted,
WESLEY H. DOUGLASS,
Superintendent of Schools.

THE PRESIDENT'S CHALLENGE

This crisis can be met, but not in a day or a year, and education is a vital factor in the meeting of it.

—FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.

The most important question requiring an answer today at the hands of the American people is: What are we going to do about our public schools? Shall we maintain them on such a basis as will give our children an education in those essentials absolutely necessary to equip them as individuals and as citizens to lead such lives as men and women must be equipped to lead in a self-governing republic of free men, or are we going to let them slip back into an era of unenlightenment, bigotry, and ignorance?

—HAROLD L. ICKES, Secretary of Interior.

* * * *

Ever since I was a child I have been meeting public problems . . . to come finally to the conclusion always that education furnishes the only solution. . . . All the problems that arise—problems requiring either a new approach to an old evil, or a new remedy for an evil that has taken a new form in the changing kaleidoscope of social development—all these have only one answer. That answer is education.

—NEWTON D. BAKER, Journal of Adult Education, June, 1931.

We have commended the government for its program of public works and we have shown that, if such federal participation is warranted for roads, dams, and waterworks, it is equally justified for schools. We know that education is mostly labor and public service. We know that it is self-liquidating. . . . By the true interpretation of the traditions of the past, by the needs of normal times, by the urgency of the depression we conclude that substantial support of our public schools . . . should at once become a part of the program for recovery.

—WILLIAM F. RUSSELL.
